Crocheted Table Cloth Goes Together Quickly

By Ruth Orr

For the time when the special guest makes an appearance, what could be nicer than this dainty crocheted cloth on which to serve luncheon, or tea or dinner? It is crocheted of fairly large mercerized crochet cotton, so that it really isn't a life's work to complete even a large dinner cloth. The hexagons that compose it measure 3 1/4 inches across and are made separately and are then joined together.

Pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-follow directions with diagrams to aid you, also what crochet hooks and material you will need to obtain.

Shabby Gilt Frames

To brighten the gilt frames on mirrors or pictures, take sufficient flower of sulphur to give a golden tinge to a pint of water. Add to this four onions, cut in halves and boil for five minutes. Cool, strain off the liquid and scrub the frames with a soft brush dampened with the liquid.

There's always good use for filet crochet doilies, as lovely as these in fine cotton. You can crochet a luncheon or buffet set—incidental doilies, too. Pattern 2650 contains directions and charts for doilies, illustrations of them and stitches; materials required.

A Braided Rug That Grew Up With Family

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

"DEAR MRS. SPEARS: The leaflet on making Rag Rugs that just came with your two books is most interesting to me, and I thought you might like to know about a rag rug that I made, and added more rows to from time to time.

"I save the best parts of old sheets and dye them different colors; then tear them into one-inch strips. I have a power machine, so I run these through it turning in the raw edges. The stitching strengthens the strips and makes them firm and neat for braiding."

If this letter inspires you, I have made a sketch here showing how to start your room size rug. If you are not quite that ambitious, you will find many ideas for smaller rugs in the leaflet offered below.

NOTE: Now is the time for all of us to give our houses a fresh start. Crisp new curtains; a bright slipcover; new lampshades; or an ottoman will do the trick. Make these things yourself. Mrs. Spears' Book 1—SEWING, for the Home Decorator, shows you how with step-by-step, easy to follow sketches. Book 2—Gifts, Novelties and Embroidery, shows you how to make fascinating things from odds and ends and will save its cost many times. Books are 25 cents each; if you order both books, copy of the new Rag Rug Leaflet will be included free. Address Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplaines St., Chicago, III.
By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

A HOME Demonstration Agent wrote me the other day to say that many of the women in her group had made the spool shelves described in SEWING BOOK 3 and the end tables of spools in Book 5. "One member has an interesting collection of pitchers and would like to make a corner whatnot for them," the letter continued.

Well, here it is ladies! With the collection of pitchers all in place. The sketch gives all dimensions and instructions. The triangle shelves are cut from one board as shown at the left. The second shelf from the bottom needs six holes. All the others have three holes each. The design may be varied by using larger spools at the bottom for the first spool above and below each shelf. Use extension curtain rods to fit the holes in the spools. A little glue between spools makes the whatnot rigid. When finished, it may be stained or painted.

NOTE: These homemaking booklets are a service to our readers and No. 8 contains a description of the other numbers; as well as 32 pages of clever ideas with all directions fully illustrated. They are 10c each to cover cost and mailing. Send order to:

NEW DRAPERIES IN CORNICE STYLE

What we like about this gay drapery style is the smart cornice—which isn’t really a cornice at all! It’s a straight piece of goods which you shirr easily on two drapery rods. Isn’t that a fascinating trick?

Imagine this new-style cornice in periwinkle blue—with cretonne draperies patterned in pink and cream. Or what about a cornice of cherry red, with side draperies in dove gray and white?

As for the deep flounces which give the curtains such a perky air, cut each flounce one-fourth the over-all length of the draperies—with an extra two inches for over-hanging.

Picot, pink or bind the lower edges of the flounces, gather and sew to a foundation.

So the flounces won’t curl back, tack them lightly to the sides of the foundation—as the diagram indicates. Hang the finished draperies on a glass curtain rod.

Send 15 cents for booklet, “MAKE YOUR OWN CURTAINS AND DRAPERIES.” Address request to Globe-Democrat Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y.
BRAIDED RUG SIMPLE TO MAKE

NEW BOOKLET SHOWS MANY KINDS OF RUGS

Pretty—and so "homey" in your room—this oval braided rug combining a flowered pattern with solid colors.

You can easily get the same effect. Use perhaps an old printed cotton dress for the figured part, then have your plain colors harmonize. Shades of green look lovely with a pink and cream design.

The rug in our picture is 23x33 inches and requires about 16 yards of material—which you cut into strips 3½ inches in width and not longer than about 1½ yards. Before braiding, turn in raw edges of strips about ½ inch, press down, and fold strips through center as in diagram 1.

In making a braid use three strips of the same color. Pin together, fasten to table and braid, folding again through the center. Make braid with firm, straight edges. As strips run short, sew on new ones, spacing the joinings to avoid lumpiness.

Now, to shape your rug, measure 20 inches on braid of figured material, fold in half and sew edges together. This makes the rug’s center and you proceed to wind braid around this center as in diagram 2—sewing as you go and keeping your work flat.

Effective to add about 2 yards of figured braid to the center before changing to a plain fabric. When ending a color, slope braid at one end of work, start new color at other end as shown in diagram 2.

You’ll enjoy, too, making a colorful hooked rug for your living room or a gay crocheted stocking rug for your bedroom.

Our 40-page booklet, "NEW IDEAS FOR HANDMADE RUGS," gives complete directions for making many styles of hooked, braided, woven and crocheted rugs. Includes a tufted candlewick rug, an Oriental pile rug—to name only a few.
